

TYPES OF STUDENTS AT PTW

My Child Wants to be a Professional on Broadway/TV/Film

Danny Greenberg, PTW Associate Artistic Director (MTV, Internationally broadcast singer and songwriter)

"We have a professional track here at PTW for our students who are looking to pursue a career right now or in the near future in New York City. As a part of our professional track, we have a professionally-driven TV acting course. And in this course, we work on specific things like copy and how to make choices immediately after getting the commercial copy."

Zeynep Allyn, PTW Parent

"Well, Peter Pan [Live on NBC, with my son, John, in the featured role of Michael] was an extraordinary experience that came to us out of nowhere. He did the summer camp here, and it was the experience of a lifetime. I think he enjoyed it almost as much as Peter Pan I have to admit."

Jeffrey Greenberg, Executive & PTW Parent

"A lot of the students at PTW already identified at a young age that they want to pursue a career in the arts. The fundamentals for this were established at a very young age, when he learned about commitment and dedication, creativity, and artistic growth as a student at PTW."

Danny Greenberg, PTW Associate Artistic Director (MTV, Internationally broadcast singer and songwriter)

"We give them the skills to do it and then we actually have them do it a lot. Doing something a lot is what brings confidence and makes you feel comfortable with it. That's one of the most important things for students who wanna do film work professionally, right now: to get comfortable in front of the camera, because that's not something they do every day."

Diane Lilli, Writer & PTW Parent

"One of the most amazing things to see is your child make the leap from a student at a school like PTW, where he was, to a professional role. My son had a manager, he was on auditions in the city all the time, he booked a national commercial. He was just doing everything he could dream of and that's priceless."

Danielle R., PTW Student

"I have performed on TV. I was actually on Boardwalk Empire on HBO, as Eli's daughter, which was really cool."

Jeslyn Z., PTW Student

"I've gotten a Chase commercial, and then I got a Disney commercial."
