Pro-Track Meets the Growing Need for Voice Talent

Elite performers are adapting to remote opportunities using one unique and versatile asset: their voice. Voiceover work is thriving. Talented young performers are benefiting. PTW has taken note. Our students are receiving callbacks for voice roles and booking gigs! PTW's elite training amps up the chances of not only landing the audition but booking the gig.

This semester, we're preparing serious students to command the evolving voiceover landscape — from their own living rooms — with critical guidance from expert PTW faculty and guest presenters who specialize in booking voiceovers.

Pro-Track Voiceover Intensive Series

Through a five-part Voiceover Intensive Masterclass Series within PTW's constructive and nurturing environment, Voiceover (VO) experts will ensure students adopt skills and strategies they need for booking the gig. The series includes a tech prep ahead of the first session, so each student can work one-on-one with PTW's online tech crew and everyone feels prepared and pumped.

Say It. Slay It. Book It.

Course at a glance

While on-camera casting is on the back burner now, demand for VO talent is soaring. You've got the goods. You need the skills, knowledge and technique to compete in today's voiceover landscape. Join professional VO actor and Broadway veteran Daisy Hobbs who'll provide industry tools, tips and proven strategies to get you talking and booking across today's broadcasting, streaming, gaming and audible-ing scene.

Meet Daisy

Daisy Hobbs is a New York-based writer, performer, comedian and versatile voice actor. She is the creator and star of the popular musical web series "Outcast" and is the first African-America woman to write, direct, produce, compose and star in a musical digital series. In addition to voice work, Daisy specializes in music video parody writing, comedy songwriting and topical jokes. She is a classically-trained actor who enjoys writing & playing a wide range of characters.

As a voice over artist, Daisy has booked numerous, currently running national commercials. She appears in the new SyFy channel animated series "Magical Girl Friendship Squad" starring Christine Baranski. As a comic performer, Daisy performs at the world famous Upright Citizens Brigade Theater (co-founded by Amy Poehler of "SNL" and "Parks & Recreation") and transfers many of her comedic skills and strategies to booking multi-platform voice work. Her theatre credits include prominent roles in the original cast of Disney's Aladdin on Broadway and the first national tour of Memphis, among many other professional and regional productions.

Inside the Series

Each Voiceover Intensive session offers Pro-Track students unique structure, skillset and insight into the world of contemporary voice work. Proper understanding and synthesizing of VO best practices positions emerging performers to become seasoned pros faster than you can binge the new season of "Stranger Things." PTW's Voiceover Intensive provides Pro-Track students critical skills and strategies for becoming a VO powerhouse in the streaming age.
